WHERE'S THE JUSTICE?

A MUM has branded the justice system a disgrace after her autistic son was beaten up and then told he could not press charges because of his disability.

Jo Meredith claims court chiefs are not prosecuting the thug who attacked her 14-year-old son Paul because his condition, which affects his speech, might cause him to break down under cross examination.

Paul suffered bruises and a black eye after he was assaulted while taking his pet dog for a walk in Harlow. It was the third time he has been beaten up in separate unprovoked attacks.

Police video-interviewed the youngster to build a case to prosecute but officers have now confirmed the Crown Prosecution Service has dropped the case.

Miss Meredith (32), of Rivermill, said the decision was madness. "I was told that because Paul is autistic they felt he wouldn't hold up well on the stand and

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
 sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

that the CPS is not going to deal with the case," she told the Star.

"It is an absolute disgrace. Paul has got a lot better and sometimes his speech is unclear but I saw the video and he was fine."

She added: "It's no wonder there are teenagers out there who don't have any respect for the justice system because they know they can do something and not be punished. My son is the only one who has suffered."

Police confirmed they arrested a suspect after the attack, which happened on August 21, but released them without charge.

Miss Meredith says she now intends to seek legal advice regarding the situation.

The Star put the allegations to the CPS but, at the time of going to press, it had failed to respond.

Skateboarders' joy as new park gets go-ahead

AFTER two decades of campaigning, Harlow Town Park is all set for a state-of-the-art skate park.

Planning chiefs have unanimously agreed to give the 808 sq m facility the go-ahead. The £300,000 park, close to Burnt Mill school, will have the luxury of floodlights, CCTV, new fencing and landscaping to create different levels.

The decision has been welcomed by skaters who filled the public gallery on Tuesday to watch the plans being passed by Harlow Council's planning committee. Harlow Skateboard Association chairman Steve Hemming (31), one of the park's designers and owner of Wych Elm skate shop Motel 6, said after the meeting: "The kids are at last going to have a place of their own with no more hassle from shoppers and the police."

"This has been 20 years in the waiting and the result is a wicked, customised street set-up which is absolutely unique. The area it's being built on is perfect as there is little wind and it is a safe environment for people of all abilities."

"It's even going to have grass mounds where people can chill out between sessions."

Mr Hemming attended his first meeting for a permanent skate park in 1989, joining a campaign which had already been buoyant for several years.

Council environment and community chairwoman Eleanor Macy said afterwards: "A common concern of local residents is that there are not enough facilities for young people, so a new permanent skate park facility will help meet that concern."

The project, which has been part funded by a £57,500 Sport England grant, is due for completion early next year.

Ram-raiders hit building society

A BUILDING society premises was partly demolished when crooks smashed into it with heavy farm machinery.

Police believe the ram-raid at Nationwide, in Knight Street, Sawbridgeworth, was carried out by thieves driving a digger or tractor, who drove into the branch in a bid to steal its cash machine.

Nothing was taken in the raid, which happened in the early hours of Sunday morning, and it is understood the machine was empty due to the influx of visitors to the town's farmers market on Saturday.

Anyone with information should contact Hertfordshire Police on 0845 3300222.

Square to make way for housing

HARLOW'S premier live music venue The Square is to be demolished.

It was confirmed this week the building in Fourth Avenue, along with the former YWCA hostel next door, will be razed to make way for a new housing development.

The plug is due to be pulled within the next year, with Essex County Council already being served notice to quit the premises by August 2008.

A spokeswoman for Blackwater Housing, lease owner of the site, said the decision was made because the building had fallen into severe disrepair.

"It has been agreed – in partnership with English Partnerships who own the freehold and Harlow District Council – that the existing schemes should be demolished and the site re-developed to provide affordable, residential accommodation in a landmark building," she said.

The news has rocked supporters of the venue who are planning to fight tooth and nail to keep alive the spirit of The Square, which has launched the careers of many bands and hosted such high profile acts as Coldplay and Supergrass.

Square One, a limited liability partnership which includes former technical manager Richard Holgarth, has been set up with the aim of taking over and turning round the ailing venue to increase the chances of it being replaced.

By BEN WILKINSON

Chief Reporter

wilkinsonb@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"If we can make it a success in the final few months then we have a real case for its replacement," said Mr Holgarth.

He was also deeply critical of the county council for imposing decisions such as a ban on alcohol which, he claims, were intentionally devised to make the venue unworkable.

MP Bill Rammell is now calling on the county council to speed up the handover of The Square to the partnership and on Blackwater bosses to rethink their plans. "At a time when people are concerned about anti-social behaviour among youngsters, the idea that we allow something as valuable as The Square to just go down the pan is ridiculous."

A Harlow Council spokesman said the authority had not entered into any agreement with either English Partnerships or Blackwater regarding the demolition of the sites.

"The council is aware of the proposals but the association will need to apply for planning permission through the normal channels," he said.

Deputy PM on fact-finding visit

THE new deputy leader of the Labour Party made a return visit to Harlow yesterday (Wednesday) for a fact-finding mission to discover the concerns of residents.

Harriet Harman last visited the town in January when, as constitutional affairs minister, she helped to launch a crackdown on anti-social behaviour.

This week she took a stroll around the town centre with Harlow MP Bill Rammell after meeting local Labour Party members.

Later she accompanied Mr Rammell on a trip to one of Harlow's estates to find out more about residents' concerns on a variety of local and national issues.

"There were some very interesting issues raised by residents," she told the Star. "One of the most important that came up was regarding the provision of youth services, which we will be working hard to address."

"Bill is doing a fantastic job for the people of Harlow. I think it's so important that his roots are in the town and I know this means a lot to the residents I spoke with today."

Robbery and GBH charges dropped

A MAN accused of robbery and grievous bodily harm has walked free from court after the charges were dropped.

Martin Pink (26), of Church End, Harlow, had been due to face trial after he denied robbing Linda Grover of a mobile phone and Robert Cliff of cigarettes, plus assaulting Mr Cliff.

But prosecutor Richard Paxton told Chelmsford Crown Court on Tuesday that the Crown no longer wished to pursue the charges.

Pink was sentenced to two months imprisonment after admitting common assault against Ayeobaji Sofekun, but Judge David Turner said he would be released immediately as he had already spent three months remanded in custody.

The court heard that on June 13, Miss Grove, Mr Cliff and Pink, who were all known to each other, had been at The Hare pub, in Hare Street, Harlow. Later, when Miss Grove and Mr Cliff were on their way home, Pink approached them on his bicycle and an incident ensued.

Bystander Mr Sofekun tried to intervene but Pink became abusive towards him threatening: "I'm going to get your kids. I've got mates who are going to get you," before punching him in the face.

Defence counsel Matthew Gowan said Mr Sofekun, who was credited by the judge for his "public spiritedness and courage", had been attempting to make a citizen's arrest on Pink.

Rise and fall of the Sunvic Simmerstat

THE post war housing boom provided British industry with a much-needed boost and Harlow's growing employment base was no exception.

Amongst it all was Sunvic Controls, which in 1952 became one of the first firms to move to the town.

That was the year when John Sapsford joined it as a production engineer. "The company had built up a reputation around the Simmerstat, a device widely used for controlling the hotplate temperatures on domestic cookers," he explained.

"With typically five Simmerstats per cooker and with all the new houses being built to make up for losses during the war, the demand was considerable.

"But the move to a newly-built factory in Harlow was prompted by a desire to expand into other types of control instrumentation for newly-developing industries."

Mr Sapsford, of Sayesbury Road, Sawbridgeworth, remembered how his first task was to analyse a large pile of diagrams of American-designed pneumatic instruments and get them into production. He faced pressure from the firm's sales force which was busy finding customers before Sunvic even had anything to sell!

"There were all sorts of problems," he recalled. "Materials were called for that few people had experience

By

of working. We found that some parts, correctly made to drawings, would not assemble. It was a challenging, interesting, hectic and personally very rewarding time."

Unfortunately the insatiable demand for Sunvic's products did not equate to financial success and soon after the firm was taken over by Associated Electrical Industries.

"This was very much an accountant-led organisation which sought to control by a series of ratios," said Mr Sapsford. "AEI accountants could not, or would not, see that Sunvic was expanding at a rapid rate and the orders being placed at any one time related to the anticipated output for the year ahead.

"It came to a head when AEI issued a directive to the Sunvic purchasing department to stop all deliveries for three months and halve all outstanding orders. When I found out, I had a fruitless argument with the managing director."

Mr Sapsford resigned in 1956, leaving as his parting shot a report on the dangers of the company's financial policy.

"I had some satisfaction knowing later that my prophecies had been confirmed by fact but was sad to see this lead to the virtual demise of this very promising concern."

Cowboy Sid was a saddle star

ONE interesting thread which came out of our articles on noted Harlow equestrienne Joy Sewell back in June and July was rodeo-riding Sid Wright. As Chigwell Row resident Pamela Everett explained in these pages, Sid lived at Harlow Common and had a skewbald horse on which he performed at local fetes. He also wore his cowboy outfit every day and rode his horse around local streets, making himself a well-known eccentric.

So our thanks go to Barbara Wilson, of Red Lion Crescent, for this picture of the man himself, taken in the late 1940s or early '50s. Sid is the one in the hat, while the others are two of Mrs Wilson's brothers.

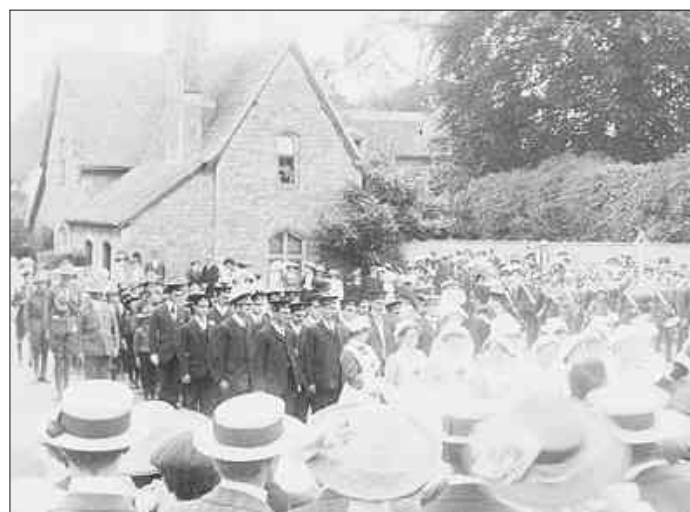

"My brothers used to help

Sid out at the shows," she explained. "They did trick riding and used to draw good crowds at the local fetes."

She added: "Sid's family also ran Wright's Stores, a popular shop in Potter Street."

● If you remember shopping at Wright's Stores, Nostalgia would love to hear from you.

CATS DIE IN BLAZE

HARLOW'S well-known cat lover Michelle Allard was still recovering from shock this week after a freak blaze destroyed a cat house in her garden, killing six of her beloved cats. Michelle was horrified by the fire which she believes was started by an aerosol can being thrown onto a small bonfire in her garden.

M&S GIRLS GAME FOR A LAUGH

THE belles of St Michael's gave their opponents and spectators a big kick during a charity football match on Sunday. Dressed in stockings and suspenders, the ladies' team recruited from the Harlow branch of Marks & Spencer proved a star attraction at Tye Green, Bush Fair.

MODEST SIMON IS BACK HOME

NOT quite so much is heard about the Falklands campaign these days but we should never forget the bravery of soldiers like Harlow's Simon Wagstaff who stayed behind to clear minefields. Simon (23), of Whitewaits, flew home to his family at the weekend ending their months of worry. Welcoming him was a cake bearing his regimental crest made by Andersen's bakery at Staple Tye.

AND FINALLY...

CHEEKY burglars turned the tables when they broke into Tye Green Community Centre and stole two burglar alarms. And jokers were also out in force this week removing three letters from the Chahal Supermarket sign at Potter Street to give shoppers a good laugh as they entered "HAHA SUPERMARKET"!

PRIVATE ROBERT FOSTER

THE grieving parents of the Harlow soldier killed by friendly fire in Afghanistan say they have been overwhelmed by messages of sympathy.

John and Lisa Foster have drawn strength and support from the dozens of tributes paid to their 19-year-old son Robert on the Star website.

The former Mark Hall School pupil was one of three soldiers killed when a US plane bombed their position during close-quarter fighting.

Comrades Private Aaron McClure (19) and Private John Thrumble (21) were also killed when an American F15, called in to support ground troops, mistakenly dropped a bomb on British forces on August 23.

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Events surrounding the incident are now the subject of a military investigation.

Private Foster had been serving in the country since March after joining the Army in April last year.

Thanking readers for their messages, his father John (47), of Great Plumtree, Harlow, described the past two weeks as a rollercoaster ride.

"Every now and again you read something on the website and it really hits home that people are taking the time to sit down and write these sorts of things," he said.

"Some of the words written make me cry every time. We have said it before that we like our kids to be well-liked, but this has really taken us back."

Private Foster enjoyed a two-week rest break with his mum, dad and sister Lauren (21) at the family home before he flew out to finish his tour of duty which was due to end on October 14.

Mr Foster said that while his son was on leave his mobile phone was constantly ringing non-stop with friends wanting to meet him for a drink before he returned to Helmand Province where he was serving with the 1st Battalion Royal Anglian Regiment.

Private Foster's body has been flown to Oxford and is due to be buried with full military honours at Harlow's Parndon Wood Crematorium on September 14. Hundreds of mourners are expected to attend the service.

MP insists US witnesses should attend inquests

HARLOW MP Bill Rammell has criticised US Government policy after it was confirmed that no American military personnel will attend the inquest into Private Foster's death.

In the days following the tragedy there were calls for co-operation from the Americans in investigations into how the mistake could have happened.

But the US has now confirmed that it will not provide witnesses for any of the inquests of the three soldiers who died.

Mr Rammell said total co-operation from everyone was essential if future friendly fire incidents were to be avoided.

"I have written to Des Browne (Secretary of State for Defence) urging an investigation and making clear my view that everyone involved, including the Americans, should co-operate," he said.

Mr Rammell added he was awaiting a reply from Mr Browne but insisted: "I believe we should do everything in our power to bring about full co-operation from the Americans and I have made my views on the matter clearly known within government."

theatre, music, a range of sporting activities and a demonstration of African drumming.

A huge range of competitions, sideshows and giveaways were laid on across 11 marquees, while youngsters made a beeline for the giant fairground and an animal parade at Pets Corner.

The day's events were crowned off by a performance from Eurovision Song Contest winners Buck's Fizz, who brought the entertainment to a close with a selection of their 1980s pop hits.

Harlow Council chairwoman Lorna Spencely said: "It was a fantastic day and another brilliant Town Show.

"It was great to see so many people coming into the park and enjoying a whole host of activities.

"The show not only gives local people a chance to party but the town's many community and voluntary groups get the chance to showcase their work.

"I would like to give praise to the council staff involved in the event because the show's organisation was superb."

HARLOW HOTSPOT

THE WINNER

AN overgrown woodland close to one of Harlow's shopping hatches is the winner of the inaugural Harlow Hotspots competition.

Visitors to Sunday's Town Show voted Cocks Spinney Wood the eyesore they felt was most in need of a makeover.

Thirty-seven per cent of people who went to the Harlow Renaissance marquee cast their votes for the wood, one of three projects which were shortlisted for the competition. Second with 33 per cent of the vote was the blocked stream by Harlow Town railway station car park and third with 30 per cent was the Church End pond near Peldon Road.

Work on clearing Cocks Spinney Wood and re-establishing pathways through the area to encourage more people to visit will start shortly.

The Harlow Hotspots competition was organised by Harlow Renaissance with the support of the Harlow Star and Kler Harlow. Star readers were invited to nominate environmental projects which they felt would benefit the community.

Andrew Bramidge, chief executive of Harlow Renaissance, said: "We were delighted by the interest people took in the Hotspots competition and would like to thank everyone who nominated an area as well as everybody who came along and voted. It demonstrated yet again the strength of community support in Harlow and the commitment to working with each other to enhance the local environment."

"It wasn't surprising that the results were so close as they all were very worthy finalists. We now look forward to working with Kler Harlow and conservation experts on moving forward with the work."

Help police to catch town's terror terrier

THE Star is today urging the people of Harlow to help police track down a savage dog amid growing concerns that the animal's next victim could be a child.

The call comes as officers investigate the possibility the cross-breed terrier is one of a litter which could be responsible for the spate of dog-on-dog attacks in the town in recent weeks.

The latest attack occurred just yards from the Latton Bush Centre, a hub for youth activity.

Now, a month after the dog claimed its first victim, the Star is calling on its 60,000 readers to help police catch the culprit, which has been spotted wandering alone in the Bush Fair area.

It marks the biggest effort yet to stop the dangerous animal striking again and comes after one child was killed and others scarred for life in recent dog attacks throughout the country.

Backing our appeal, Inspector Bob Adams who is leading the hunt said: "Most dog owners are responsible but unfortunately there is a dog that is been allowed to roam the area of Bush Fair and there have been incidents where dogs have been attacked.

"We are anxious to trace the owner of the dog and would welcome any information Star readers may have.

"Harlow police is taking this very seriously. I can't allow a dog to go wandering off the lead with no owner or keeper."

The brown and white dog, thought to be a Staffordshire bull terrier crossbreed, is known to have attacked two dogs and is thought to have set upon at least two more since August.

The latest attack saw a Labrador savaged in Tysea Road and dogs fitting the same description have mauled other canines in the area.

This animal gives Staffies bad name

ANGRY Staffordshire bull terrier owner Michael Wray has criticised police, claiming they are not doing enough to catch the rogue dog.

The 43-year-old feels the attacks are giving the breed a bad name.

Mr Wray, of Bishopsfield, has owned Staffordshire bull terriers for 14 years and said: "It's right of the Star to make an issue of it and bring it to people's attention as it's a safety issue.

"I have three Staffies and I love them to bits but allowing a dog to run around terrorising and attacking other dogs is really dangerous and I won't even walk mine around here now.

"It's giving good dogs such as mine a really bad name and people are crossing the road to avoid them thinking they are dangerous - they're not, they are a breed of dog that's well-known to like people and especially children."

Police have been actively seeking the dog and have carried out stop-checks with owners of cross-breed terriers to see if they know where it resides.

Bred for violence

VICIOUS dogs have been at the centre of a BBC investigation.

Last Wednesday undercover Panorama reporters exposed a network of criminal gangs which supply illegal pit bull terriers for fighting.

The dogs, banned in the UK and the same breed that killed a five-year-old girl in Liverpool last year, were smuggled across Europe for organised fighting in Northern Ireland.

Another 'weigh' for men to stay healthy

A HARLOW-based charity helping people with obesity problems is preparing to start a monthly, volunteer-led group helping men to stay healthy and active.

The Obesity Awareness and Solutions Trust, better known as TOAST, has been encouraged by the success of its first all-male weight management support group programme.

The idea for a support group came from the men who took part in the project. The aim is to help them keep up the motivation necessary to maintain their weight loss.

Jonathan Cunnington, operations director of TOAST, said: "Currently 70 per cent of UK men are over their healthy weight.

"Government statistics show that those affected have a much higher risk of heart disease, high blood pressure and type two diabetes while obese people have their average life expectancy reduced by nine years."

Meanwhile the charity, which is run from the Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way, was given an unusual helping hand when it was joined by a large blue mouse for a promotional campaign at the Harvey Centre. TOAST enlisted the help of the mascot of the charitable internet search engine everyclick.com to raise awareness of the obesity epidemic currently facing the UK.

It also doubled up as a chance to promote the Give Your Mouse A Heart campaign which encourages people to use computer sites to help charities. Spokeswoman Emma Walton explained: "The mouse is very good at raising awareness and encouraging people to use their mouse to help charity, so we are delighted to be able to help."

● For more information about the work of TOAST, call (01279) 866010.

Art club fun for kids

CHILDREN put their artistic skills to good use at a special holiday session to prepare for the new programme of Harlow Council's Saturday Art Club.

They used their imaginations to make relief sculptures at the workshop held in the Gibberd Gallery at Harlow Civic Centre.

The club's autumn programme begins this weekend with a special Mexican-themed session to mark that country's independence day. This will be followed on September 22 with an African-themed day including painting and jewellery making. Sessions run from 10am-noon, and cost £2.50 per child. For more information call (01279) 446438.

Banking on blood

THE National Blood Service is urging parents to get out of holiday mode and into the habit of giving blood.

Blood stocks are currently in need of a top-up following the traditional summer lull and new donors are urgently required.

NBS spokesman Gareth Bell said: "With so many people taking time out to enjoy the recent holiday with their children and family, it is understandable that blood collections have fallen.

"With the holidays behind us we are now asking parents to find a spare hour while the kids are at school to attend a local blood donor session."

Sessions take place at the Latton Bush Centre, in Southern Way, Harlow, today (Thursday) from 2-4pm and 5-7.45pm and on September 16 from 10am-12.30pm and 2-4.15pm. For people living or working in Epping, sessions will be held at Epping Hall, in St John's Road, on September 21 from 2-4pm and 5-7.30pm.

Alzheimer's walk

THE Harlow branch of the Alzheimer's Society is hoping this year's Memory Walk will help it to maintain its reputation as the national charity's top fundraising branch.

The walk starts at 11am on Sunday from the School Lane car park, near the Greyhound pub, and proceeds through the Town Park. Almost £30,000 has been raised from the walk during the past three years.

Branch chairman Gordon Younger said: "Currently we support over 260 people with dementia, as well as their carers and families, who live in Harlow. We need the support of fundraising events such as this if we are to maintain our much-needed support in the future."

To sign up to take part in Sunday's walk call (01279) 418331.

The race is on

THE wait is now on for customers of a North Weald pub who took part in a balloon race for charity.

More than 100 balloons were released from The Talbot on Bank Holiday Monday. Participants, who paid £1 each to enter, must wait and see which ticket is sent back to the pub from the most far-flung part of the world.

The fundraiser was in aid of the Make A Wish Foundation, a charity which supports terminally ill children

Probus guests

CONSERVATION expert Tricia Moxey, a renowned authority on Epping Forest, was guest speaker at a meeting of Epping Probus.

Members of the club for retired men will welcome Michael Mead to their next meeting on Wednesday at the Lindsey Street Community Association in Frampton Road. Mr Mead will give a talk on the district's Huguenot past.

Hall open day

MORE than 1,500 visitors attended Copped Hall near Epping as the historic mansion held its summer open day.

Several restored rooms and the grounds were open to the public and there was also the chance to inspect recent archaeological excavations.

Rotary's roast

EPPING Forest Rotary Club's grand Hog Roast on the Mount event takes place on Sunday at the Old School House, Mount End.

Harlow loses inspirational pioneer spirit

By BEN WILKINSON
Chief Reporter
wilkinsonb@hertsessexnews.co.uk

COMMUNITY leaders this week paid tribute to Harlow's longest serving councillor who died on Sunday.

Roy Collyer (73), who had been battling cancer, served on the council for 30 years. He leaves a wife Janet, three sons David, John and Simon and three grandchildren.

He is the second veteran district councillor to die in three weeks following the death of Jack Jesse.

In a statement released on behalf of the Collyer family, son David (41) said: "He will be sadly missed not just by us but by all his family and friends."

Mr Collyer was first elected as a Labour member of Harlow Council in 1975 and was re-elected to represent Toddbrook ward last year.

He served on and chaired various committees, took a keen interest in personnel matters and chaired the council from 1980-81. He received a special award for his 30 years of service in April 2005.

Elsewhere, he served on the board of the local Primary Care Trust and, before retiring, worked as an engineer for BOC and was a leading figure in the Amalgamated Engineers' and Foundry Workers' Union and its successor Amicus.

MP Bill Rammell said: "Roy has been a friend and someone who I have worked with closely for over 20 years. He brought incredible understanding of people and a great knowledge of our community that was extremely valuable. As a senior councillor, member of the PCT but most importantly as a community leader, he made an enormous contribution to Harlow."

Labour joint council leader Tony Durcan called Mr Collyer "the best councillor you could wish for" and added: "We have lost one of our pioneers, a true friend and a great hero."

Liberal Democrat joint council leader Chris Millington said he was a first class councillor who "we all looked up to."

Their sentiments were echoed by Conservative group leader Andrew Johnson and former Harlow Council leader Martin Lawn, who described Mr Collyer as "one of the people who made Harlow the success it is."

Mr Collyer's funeral takes place tomorrow (Friday) at 10am at Harlow's Parndon Wood Crematorium. All are welcome.

● LAST respects were paid to former councillor Jack Jesse when more than 100 mourners including family, friends and fellow councillors packed Harlow's Parndon Wood Crematorium to say farewell to the popular father-of-four on Friday.

The Labour councillor for Little Parndon and Hare Street, who was a chef and engineer, died in Princess Alexandra Hospital after suffering a stroke on August 18 aged 77.

He was laid to rest in a humanist service during which his favourite song, Leonard Cohen's Passing Through, was sung.

Harlow councillor Mark Wilkinson (Lab), who attended the funeral, said: "It was a very fitting tribute and it was absolutely packed, every seat was taken and there were people standing around the sides."

"Jack was very much an individual councillor who never put politics before common sense, always put the people of Harlow before politics and argued their case as best he could every time."

East Park homes plan agreed

A GREATLY-reduced development in Old Harlow has been given the thumbs-up by planners at the third time of asking.

A terrace of four homes will be built in East Park after it was passed by council planning chiefs on Tuesday night. The site is currently occupied by two former police houses.

Two previous applications were thrown out by councillors who agreed with residents that it was gross over-development.

During Tuesday's meeting, East Park resident Thomas Aylett said: "Insufficient thought has gone into the impact these kinds of developments have on the environment."

But committee member Mike Garnett (Conservative) said: "I can't find anything here for me to vote against as all the planning requirements have been met."

Pharmacies to ease pressure on GPs

BUSY Harlow GPs are being given a helping hand thanks to an innovative scheme involving the town's pharmacists.

Private rooms in which patients can discuss possible treatments with their pharmacist are now available for customers with minor medical problems.

One such room is available at the Netteswell Pharmacy and manager Primal Ruparel, committee member of the Essex Local Pharmaceutical Society, said: "We do not offer examinations but the consulting room allows people to speak to us in a confidential environment about sensitive minor issues which may be quicker than obtaining a convenient appointment with their GP."

Pharmacists with the service can advise on customers' current medications, the morning-after pill and other sexual health matters.

Mr Ruparel added: "The consulting room is there for anyone who wouldn't want another customer to overhear their discussion.

"If a customer presents us with a problem that falls outside our remit, we would advise them to seek medical attention from their GP."

"We are certainly not out to take the place of doctors but anything that helps relieve their work burden has got to be good."

Dr Brian Balmer, chief executive of the North and South Essex Local Medical Committees which looks after the interests of GPs, said: "The introduction of the consulting rooms within pharmacies is a welcome opportunity for patients to make greater use of the skills and experience of our community pharmacy colleagues."

Assault on batteries

A BATTERY recycling scheme is fully charged and ready to expand after proving a runaway success.

A staggering 40,400 household batteries have been diverted from landfill after the scheme went live in Harlow last year.

Now neighbouring Epping Forest Council has launched its own pilot scheme.

It is hoped the kerbside collection, launched by the council's environmental protection chief Mary Sartin, pictured right, at an official ceremony at the Civic Offices, will be fully endorsed if it proves as successful.

The initiative, which is part of Government research to see if the schemes are viable nationwide, will cover 65,000 homes in Epping, North Weald, Nazeing, Roydon and other areas of the district.

Speaking at the launch last Tuesday, Mrs Sartin said: "We are extremely pleased this important recycling scheme is extending into our district.

"I'm sure local people will be really eager to participate and make battery recycling a regular habit."

Dealer caught with haul of Class A drugs

A DRUG dealer was this week starting a four-year jail sentence after he was caught with a haul of cocaine and heroin in Harlow.

Garfield Hancel (30), from Tottenham, was convicted of possessing the Class A drugs with intent to supply.

The court heard Hancel, who denied the charge, was arrested after plain clothes police officers surrounded a car containing the defendant, his girlfriend and another man near Edmunds Tower on November 28 last year.

They searched the vehicle and found 21 wraps of cocaine and 21 wraps of heroin.

Lynne Shirley, prosecuting, said Hancel was intending to supply the drugs because they were in wraps.

Defence council Siobhan Molloy said Hancel maintained he was not dealing drugs and that they belonged to his former girlfriend.

But after Hancel was found guilty by the jury, Judge Peter Fenn said: "You contested this matter and your defence involved blaming your former girlfriend, an account which the jury clearly rejected."

Sentencing him to four years imprisonment, the judge added: "Those convicted of supplying or possessing Class A drugs quite simply ruin people's lives."

WE SAY

SO now it is official, with an announcement we all suspected was inevitable – The Square is to close.

It has been apparent for some time that efforts to save it were doomed. After all, if Essex County Council had a real interest in its future why would it have taken unpopular decisions about the club's alcohol and admission policies?

There is something ironic that in Harlow's 60th anniversary year the final blow is struck to one of its best facilities. As one campaigner put it: "We're talking about the most famous youth club in Britain, if not Europe. Is that not an asset to Harlow that's worth saving?"

Clearly not to County Hall, while Harlow Council has hardly bent over backwards to object. That has been left to MP Bill Rammell, who said this week he is determined to see The Square saved or replaced.

We wish him good luck for the sake of the hundreds of young people for whom the venue was, and is, an important part of their lives.

YOU SAY

Every week our online poll asks you to vote on a different issue.

Last week asked: "Should our troops be pulled out of Afghanistan and Iraq?" The result of the poll was 81.9% said yes and 18.1% said no. To take part in this week's poll, log on to www.harlowstar.co.uk

Governors unable to sort it out

SIR, As a former mature student who attended Harlow College for four years, I am appalled by what has happened over the debacle that principal Colin Hindmarch has created.

My time at the college was a very happy and interesting experience and the standard of teaching was excellent. The student population was a happy population.

It is apparent the students do not count any more; they, along with staff whose faces do not fit, are just pawns in a power struggle. Maybe the college needed a restructuring programme but this has certainly not been the way to go about it.

It is obvious the board of governors as a collective are not strong enough to sort out the problems that have been created. I read that at a meeting in the Civic Centre there was a vote of no confidence in Mr Hindmarch. Surely the board should have acted on this or has it lost its backbone?

In education, as in industry, you will come across many people in authority who do not have any people skills. Mr Hindmarch should bite the bullet and walk before the college is closed due to the lack of staff who understand the locale and the students who would not waste a lot of time travelling to other colleges.

This rather negative episode in the college's life must be stopped now. With the unwillingness of Mr Hindmarch to see the errors of his failure to listen to anyone who understands Harlow and its college, he must resign immediately so that a principal with a higher standard and understanding of leadership can be appointed.

Well done kids

SIR, Early one miserable evening last week in The Stow I saw five or six young people assisting an elderly lady who, on her way home, had tripped and badly bruised her face.

When I went to see if I could help it was clear that these young people were in control of the situation. They had phoned for an ambulance and waited with her for it to arrive.

They then waited a further 10 minutes, in the fine drizzle, whilst she received treatment in the ambulance. They stayed to see if they could further aid the lady on her journey home and eventually left when the ambulance took her away.

I think I observed a fairer example of the average young person's behaviour in society than that magnified example of the bad behaviour of a few that is presented to us, as the norm, daily by the media.

Well done kids.

Battle heroes

SIR, Sixty-seven years ago, September 15 was a lovely day. It was also the crux of the Battle of Britain, a day in the battle of which I, as a schoolboy, was a spectator.

The Battle of Britain is one of the most documented ever. Many historians have fought their own battles over the events but with hindsight and with knowledge that small group of men did not have at the time.

Authors have made money writing about events of which they have no knowledge and without being able to speak to the participants. For of the 2,927 who took part fewer than 100 of the air crew are still alive today.

In the Harvey Centre and possibly outside Woolworth you will see men in civvies wearing their Air Force Blue berets and their RAF ties, collecting for the Royal Air Forces Association. They may look old, they may look funny in the eyes of the young, but please give, give, give.

Those collecting will say thank you which will be your way of saying thank you to those men and their successors who, even now, are putting their lives in danger.

As an ex-member of "the mob", may I add my thanks for your pennies and pounds.

SIR, Through your correspondence page I would like to ask cyclists who use the cycle tracks of Harlow for their thoughts about the network. In particular I would like to hear about the things they don't like.

Town Show? It was more like a village green fete!

SIR, Ambling away from this year's Town Show I reflected on years gone by and how the resident population and visiting out-of-towners were treated to a varied and entertaining weekend of fun and frolics.

Enticed toward the great arena, spectators were at times four deep to view and enjoy the many varied events as motorcycle display teams, stunt teams, clowns, showjumpers and parachutists performed for our enjoyment.

Local clubs representing many sporting and entertainment activities entertained between the main acts and provided sideshows creating an atmosphere akin to a village green show. We even had the traditional vegetable show complete with rosettes awarded for the longest, straightest, largest and least blemished turnip, radish or beetroot.

It was a celebration of the eccentricities of British life, something for all tastes, something we looked forward to and enjoyed, something the people of Harlow were proud of.

So what of this year's show? Well for my money – and let's face it I along with every other council tax payer paid for it – it was not a show to be proud of. Without the undoubted efforts of local independent clubs and organisations the whole event would have amounted to a very poor PR exercise on behalf of Harlow Council. We no longer have a town show; we have a village fete complete with the village green arena but lacking in the village green atmosphere. And of course we do have the village idiot who thought it would be a great wheeze to have a marquee providing corporate-style entertainment, free food and wine to privileged guests while the masses are forced to pay inflated prices for cold chips and cremated sausages.

Who, I wonder, paid for this blatant display of misplaced elitism? The budget should be spent providing a better event for the people and not another jolly day out for councillors.

cycle track networks of any town in the country but it is not used as much as it should be and this could be partly due to perceived shortcomings. I don't know but maybe the responses will give me the answer.

I will collate the responses and report them directly to the highways department of Essex County Council. So please e-mail me at johncurrybiker@aol.com or write to me at 45 Old Orchard, Harlow, CM18 6YQ, and I promise to bring your views to the attention of the county council. Who knows, we might get some results!

Free parking

SIR, I have lived in Harlow for 50 years, having moved here when I was three.

I really miss the town centre cinema and find it very hard to get to Edinburgh Way now, especially as I don't drive. I feel this end of the town has really gone down hill since the Water Gardens stores opened.

Even the shops in the Harvey Centre keep closing down. If this is because the rates are so high, surely it would be better to lower them and make some money rather than nothing at all?

One other thing I would like to mention is I feel the car park in the Water Gardens should be one set price and free for the disabled.

Both my husband and son are disabled so we find that now we shop more in Bishop's Stortford as the parking there is free for the disabled.

Disposable art

SIR, To quote from the letter from Angela Godfrey of Harlow Arts Trust, justifying what happened to the sculpture Two Children On A Rock in Harlow Town Park: "I can tell you, as a sculptor, that if a work cannot be repaired the artist certainly doesn't want it to remain in the public eye in an altered or unsatisfactory state. If the material cannot be re-used for something else it has to be taken to the tip."

So much for the Venus de Milo and the Elgin Marbles!

Weight and see

SIR, I am working on a documentary for Granada TV and we are looking for families who may be interested in taking part in the programme.

This is a one-hour documentary looking at childhood obesity in pre-school age children. We are talking to and working with various experts on this project who believe that this is an increasing problem and one which needs highlighting.

Within the programme we want to look at how to treat obesity in children, observe how families deal with the problem and discuss the main causes. We would provide specific help and advice to the family from our team of experts, with a sensitive and informative approach.

We are looking to speak to families who might be affected by this problem and are concerned about their child's weight.

If any Star readers are interested in taking part, they can contact me by email at the address below.

Tapas bar is the sauce of fun

A SPANISH tapas bar and cantina left rivals playing ketchup when it invited customers to celebrate Spain's annual tomato-throwing festival.

Bosses at Ortega, in the Queensgate Centre, Harlow, joined in the fun as diners pelted each other with tomato-shaped wet sponges during the specially-themed day.

Duty manager Silven Chengabroyen said: "All our customers really enjoyed themselves; it was the closest you will get in England to the atmosphere of the real thing."

"It was very popular with families because of the activities we laid on for the kids - face painting, rodeo bull-riding and sponge-throwing - and we were lucky enough to have very nice weather all day."

The celebrations also included salsa dancing and a one-off menu offering a range of tomato-inspired specialties.

"The tomato dishes went down especially well with our customers," Mr Chengabroyen added. "Everyone really got into the spirit of La Tomatina and even the staff enjoyed dressing up as salsa dancers for the day".

Lighting firm takes shine to north-east

A SPECIALIST lighting and highways contractor based in Harlow will be brightening up the lives of residents in the north-east after securing a lucrative lighting deal with Redcar and Cleveland Borough Council.

David Webster Ltd, of Station Approach, will work alongside LS Trillium as service providers on the £46m private finance initiative project which will see 85 per cent of the borough's lighting replaced.

Managing director Bertrand Richard said: "We look forward to providing our expertise on this prestigious PFI project and to improving the safety on the streets to the benefits of the borough and all its residents."

Experts carry out free hearing tests

THE message was loud and clear this week as a hearing aid manufacturer offered free hearing tests to people in Harlow.

Hidden Hearing, one of the UK's largest suppliers of ear devices, carried out the tests on Monday and Tuesday at the Park Inn, Southern Way.

Qualified experts were on hand to offer advice to those who were found to have a problem.

Spokeswoman Deborah Stanford said that nine million people in Britain suffered from failing hearing but often face long waiting lists for treatment.

"What is most disappointing about this issue is that it can often take those with hearing loss several years to address and come to terms with their problem only to be told they will have to wait even longer, by which point they may be put off joining the ever-growing queues," she added.

Splashing cash on holiday 'souvenirs'

HARLOW holidaymakers spent an astonishing £352,000 in foreign airports using leftover currency, according to a Post Office study.

The research shows that over half of the town's holidaymakers wasted the remainder of their holiday cash on non-essential purchases rather than visit a bureau de change.

Almost one in five people taking part in the survey admitted to parting with more than £25 on bizarre souvenirs, including ceramic lobsters, plastic Viking helmets and even a Leprechaun doorstop.

Shoppers flocking to the town centre

By CHRIS MOSS

mossc@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE two retail centres dominating Harlow's shopping landscape have both seen a huge increase in customer numbers.

The Water Gardens complex announced a 300 per cent increase in visits over a 12-month period while the Harvey Centre also recorded a similar rise during the past year.

News of the Water Gardens' trading success came in the same week as the final two empty units in the development were let to high-profile fashion retailers The Arcadia Group and Jane Norman.

Rob Williams, partner in management firm Strutt and Parker, said: "As part of a strategic programme for the scheme the final two units were held back while the scheme established itself as the prime shopping pitch for the town."

"This has now been achieved and its success confirmed by attracting two high-profile tenants and strengthening the retail mix at the scheme which is now fully let."

Meanwhile, Harvey Centre bosses predicted it would welcome more than 422,000 shoppers through its doors in the week before Christmas this year. Letting agents King Sturge said this proved the centre was number one with consumers in Harlow.

"The Harvey Centre has an excellent on-site management team who are committed to ensuring that customers and tenants are well catered for," said partner Martin Crossley. "When you couple this with an excellent tenant mix and the prospect of development, the Harvey Centre presents a very attractive proposition."

With both centres claiming to be the town's most popular shopping area, there has been criticism from small and independent traders that they are losing out in the battle for customers.

But Tony Durcan, Labour joint leader of Harlow Council, said the rest of the town would not miss out on vital redevelopment cash.

"Sometimes it can take a while for an area to become attractive to retailers, but now all the units are taken it shows that the Water Gardens is the place high street stores want to be," he said.

"We have ambitious plans for the future to regenerate other parts of the town centre so that the whole town centre, not just the southern area, becomes the place retailers want to do business."

Headbutt thug spared jail for lecturer attack

A VIOLENT thug has been spared jail for headbutting a college lecturer because he did not like the way he looked at him.

Steel fabricator David Bull (39), of Dunstalls, Harlow, pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court on Friday to causing actual bodily harm to Stephen Chambers but Judge Rodger Hayward Smith said that while he could send Bull to prison, he would instead impose a community sentence.

Mark Halsey, prosecuting, told the court the incident happened on October 16 last year at The Herald pub, in Broadley Road. Mr Chambers was playing pool with a friend when Bull attacked.

Mr Chambers' friend intervened to drag Bull away but other men sided with Bull and set upon Mr Chambers. Bull later told police he had headbutted Mr Chambers because he thought he was looking at him in a funny way but regretted his actions.

Sam Parish, in mitigation, said Bull had consumed seven pints of cider and another man had been "winding him up", adding: "He is so remorseful it will make him feel better if he pays compensation."

Bull was sentenced to 100 hours community service and ordered to pay £250 compensation to Mr Chambers. Another man, Wesley Mitchell (29), of Little Cattins, Harlow, denied and was cleared of actual bodily harm against Mr Chambers.

Call for a wider flood text alert

RESIDENTS of flood-prone areas should be warned of downpours by text message, according to a council chief.

Harlow Council leader Chris Millington wants changes to the existing Floodline system so it gives advance warning of heavy storms – such as those which caused havoc on two occasions in Harlow last year.

The Environment Agency alert service currently sends text warnings to those who subscribe, but only of possible river and tidal flooding. Mr Millington is calling for the system to be expanded and has written to the Environment Agency asking it to consider his suggestion.

Environment Agency chief executive Barbara Young said there is potential for using improved technologies but added: "Flash flooding, by its very nature, is very hard to predict and as a result is very hard to provide useful warnings for."

Songwriter Stuart is top of the popsters

By JIM TANFIELD
tanfieldj@hertssexnews.co.uk

A TALENTED musician was note-perfect when he scored a top spot in a national songwriting competition.

Stuart Mason (31), of Woodland Grove, Epping, beat 5,000 other entries in the pop category of the UK Songwriting Contest 2007 with his composition Lazy.

Former winners of the accolade have been propelled into fame after being signed by big names and Stuart hopes he could be in line for the same success now his song will feature on the UKSC's compilation album of winning entries.

As well as having his beats on disc, he was also awarded an honorary music diploma in songwriting, presented with music software and given one year's free membership of the Guild of International Songwriters and Composers.

"This is quite a chilled-out song and I wasn't really inspired by anyone when I wrote it," he said. "In fact, the only person

STUART MASON

I could hear singing it was me."

Stuart, who cites acid jazz bands Jamiroquai and the Brand New Heavies as the sound closest to his own, added: "I'm obviously really pleased about it and I hope all the coverage will help."

"The thing I have always wanted is a record deal and my dream would be to have a song or an album in the charts – who knows what will happen next!"

The song is available to listen to at www.songwritingcontest.co.uk and is also on Stuart's MySpace page.

Bingo Dawn's chorus test

DAWN Milton has been sharpening her bingo calling skills as she battles to be crowned the top in her field.

The 42-year-old, who works at Mecca bingo hall in Terminus Street, Harlow, hopes to convince judges she is the Kelly's eye of callers when she travels to Bracknell for the Southern Bingo Calling Championships later this month.

The Hornbeams resident, who got through to the final after submitting a film of herself at work, will face a tough interview on bingo procedures and legislation before being watched as she calls a page of numbers. She will then have to entertain customers for three minutes to test whether she could keep the punters happy in the event of an unexpected delay to a game.

Mrs Milton, pictured left, will be supported by a coachload of regular customers from the Harlow club. She has got through to the final once before but this time hopes to go all the way. And she told the Star she believes her background as a former cabaret singer, as well as seven years of calling experience, would stand her in good stead.

"It's not just a case of reading numbers; to be a good caller you need the personality to carry it off and I'm confident the judges will agree with our customers that I have it," she said.

Posters brighten up gloom

MAKING A SPLASH: At work on a poster are, left to right, Tom Ginn, Mia Ginn (4) and Louisa Martland from Harlow Renaissance (photo: DWYVLQB/04)

A WINDOW of opportunity for adding a bit of sparkle to empty shop fronts with children's drawings has been well-received.

Children were called into Harlow's West Gate Square to paint their own decorative creations for display in the area's empty shop windows.

The only condition Harlow Renaissance and Harlow Council insisted on was using the theme of precious stones to coincide with the town's diamond anniversary.

Renaissance chief executive Andrew Bramidge, whose office is based in West Gate Square, said: "The more life people see, the more shoppers will be attracted to the area and the more shoppers attracted will encourage retailers to set up shop here."

"It's going to be two years before anything happens so we need to make the most of it and run more events here."

Following the event, a Renaissance spokeswoman said: "We had so many people come into the shop and tell us they thought it was a good idea so we are looking at doing more events in the future."

Splats entertainment with Bugsy and crew

By
JIM TANFIELD

SPATS are being polished and voices fine-tuned for the opening night of The Playhouse's autumn production.

In the past, Playhouse Theatre Company has produced hugely enjoyable shows such as The Wizard Of Oz, Annie and Oliver!.

Now Bugsy Malone is set to dazzle with its jaunty jazz songs and spoof gangster plot – as well as the infamous splurge guns.

The show and its 50 young actors are being directed by the theatre's talented general manager Phil Dale. The original 1976 movie, directed by Alan Parker, also only used child actors, including Hollywood star Jodie Foster.

Set during Prohibition, the show centres on Buggy (Greg Edwards), a happy-go-lucky but financially troubled chap.

The object of his affections, Blousey Brown (Gemma Harragan), is desperately trying to be a successful performer at mob leader Fat Sam's club, but is constantly overshadowed by the popular Tallulah's (Amy Moulder) risqué act.

After some courier work for Fat Sam (Calum Landau), Buggy finds himself in the middle of a gangland feud between his new boss and Dandy Dan (Thomas Brace) – who is getting the upper hand thanks to his new splurge guns.

"Rehearsals have been going fantastically and we've been able to do full-time rehearsals these past two weeks which has allowed us to work really closely with all the members of the cast," said assistant director Hester Chillingworth.

"This has meant we've been able to explore new ideas which we know will lead to an even more entertaining experience for audiences.

"All of the kids are very talented but some of them especially are working to an extremely high level.

"It's also helped that we've been able to rehearse so much with a completed set; you don't normally get that luxury."

● Bugsy Malone runs daily from next Friday until September 28 and tickets priced from £10-£14 (£8-£12 for children) from (01279) 431945.

A call for boys In memory of Rose

A REVAMPED theatre school is on the lookout for boys to join as the new term begins.

Simply Stage, based in St Peter's Church, Roydon, again lights the lights on its popular Friday evenings for children's drama, dance and singing, starting tomorrow.

The theatre school also has a showcase performance every year and a production in early spring. Children have food and refreshments included in the £5-a-session fee and the first trial session is free.

Director Tracy White said: "It's for children of all abilities; for those who want to go into professional performing and those who just want to have fun.

"We do need more boys to join as it will balance it out a bit, as it is mostly girls here at the moment.

"It would also help to put on different kinds of shows from the ones we have been doing."

Fridays are split into two sessions with those aged 5-10 from 4.30-6.30pm and 10-17 from 7-10pm.

Call 07877 453328 for further details and to book a place.

A CABARET produced in loving memory of a Harlow theatrical stalwart opens next week.

Keep It In 2007 is Chain Reaction youth and community theatre group's tribute to leading light and founder Rose Ings, pictured right, who died of cancer in June and will bring together old and new members to celebrate her life.

The cabaret comprises the most popular songs and sketches from the group's 11-year history, including numbers from Oh! What a Lovely War and Jesus Christ Superstar.

The group's Lyann Kennedy told the Star: "Rose was, and in our mind still is, an amazing woman.

"She believed in everyone, believing that all of us should have the opportunity and the motivation to reach our potential and achieve our dreams.

"We dedicate this show to her and aim to raise funds for St Clare Hospice for the excellent care and support they provided Rose, her family and friends during her finale."

The shows start at 7.30pm next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Harlow Baptist Church, in Fore Street. Tickets are priced £7.50 (£6 concs) and are available from 07947 811744.

A girl's mistaken lie casts a long shadow

ATONEMENT

certificate 15, running time 1h47m

IAN McEwan's masterful tale of how one young girl's scheming imagination irrevocably alters the lives of those closest to her gets an elegant big-screen adaptation from the director of 2005's Pride and Prejudice.

A fine take on an ambiguous novel, Joe Wright effectively teases out the nuances of its devilishly complex literary namesake while drawing career-best performances from leads James McAvoy and Keira Knightley.

A tale of lies, jealousy, love and retribution spanning some 70 years, the film begins in 1935 with a moment of indiscretion between clandestine lovers Robbie (McAvoy) and Cecilia (Knightley) that plants the seeds of a devastating misunderstanding in the mind of Cecilia's younger sister Briony (the impressive Saoirse Ronan).

Catching the pair making passionate love in the library, Briony – consumed with jealousy – then falsely accuses housekeeper's son Robbie of sexually assaulting her young cousin Lola (Juno Temple) in the grounds of the family's country seat.

It is an accusation with terrible consequences, as Robbie is sent to prison for four years despite Cecilia protesting his innocence while she distances herself from her family through her denial of a crime that never was.

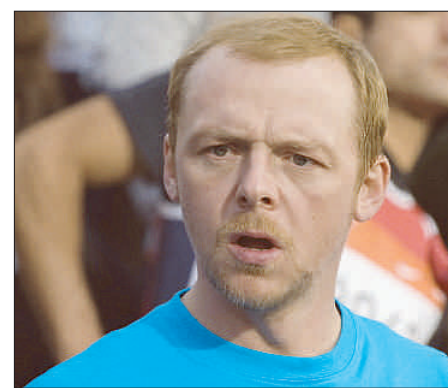

The story is then picked up during the final months of the Second World War, where Robbie has been released to fight for his country against the Nazis and an older and wiser Briony (now played by Romola Garai) is desperate to repair the damage her childish lie has wreaked.

Concerns that McEwan's skilled use of time shifts, altered perspectives and movement from third- to first-person narrative would not travel well to the silver screen prove to be unfounded.

This is an exemplary piece of cinema which can comfortably claim to be the best British film of the year so far.

OUT OF THE PAST

Dennis still in the running for love

RUN, FAT BOY, RUN

certificate 12A, running time 1h35m

THE directorial debut of the goofy annoying one from Friends is a surprisingly enjoyable slice of knockabout fun elevated from obscurity by a cast comprising some of British comedy's brightest stars.

Soon-to-be-married Dennis (Simon Pegg, pictured above) gets cold feet and jilts his pregnant bride-to-be at the altar but six years down the line and several pounds heavier he begins to regret his rash decision.

Seeing his lapsed true love with a seemingly perfect new boyfriend (Hank Azaria, wasted in a straight role), Dennis vows to win her back, deciding the best way to do this is to finish first in a marathon and prove Mr Perfect isn't as wonderful as he seems – cue overplayed training montages and general sports-related buffoonery.

Certainly no classic and not as zany as Pegg fans would like – especially as he co-wrote – this is still a warm-hearted comedy where David Schwimmer's restrained direction ensures mainstream appeal.

Guns, geezers and mockney prancing

RISE OF THE FOOTSOLDIER

certificate 18, running time 1h59m

GOR blimey, guv'! It's only annuver mockney gangsta flick for yer mincers, but is it worth a gander? The answer is, predictably, a resounding "nah".

Based on a true story, this risible attempt at glamorising a violent criminal lifestyle is executed with all the style and panache of one of Del Boy and Rodney's money-making schemes, only without the humour.

Charting the rise of Laaahnnndon thug Carlton Leach (Ricci Harnett) from football hooligan to leader of his own criminal gang, the film is an unashamedly violent and unapologetically anodyne addition to an already overcrowded sub-genre.

Even though director Julian Gilbey makes the unusual choice of narrating the tale from the viewpoint of an innocent bystander, this is little more than an irritating gimmick to mask an otherwise very ordinary effort.

new music on CD reviewed by Ben Wilkinson, Jim Tanfield

UNDER THE BLACKLIGHT

Rilo Kiley (album, Warner Bros)

For someone as beautiful as Jenny Lewis to also be as talented may be unlikely – and pretty damn unfair – but it makes for a fine fourth album from US four-piece Rilo Kiley. Not only is she the main songwriter on this musically retro album but her frankly stunning delivery of its dark lyrics – themed on the seedier sides of Los Angeles – are what really makes it essential listening. Seventies pastiches Breakin' Up and Dejalo are minor blots on an otherwise high quality landscape, and when the rest of the record is so serious, they are respites of silliness which are easily forgiven. Under The Blacklight is a masterclass in how simple riffs and simple production, combined with passionate vocals, can make for an outstanding end result.

HE SAID HE LOVED ME

Reverend And The Makers (single, Wall Of Sound)

The infantile chanting chorus combined with the lead singer's annoying croon on the verses renders this irritating in the extreme. Already championed as the next big thing, it's sadly inevitable the Sheffield electro-pop merchants will live up to the hype.

SO LONG

Jonah Matranga (single, Xtra Mile)

Following this summer's 0.2 hours of sunshine, this should at least bring a little bit of light into your life regardless of the bruised and brooding sky. With a skiffle washboard percussion feel coupled with some deft acoustic guitar work and Matranga's chocolate-smooth vocals, this is a winner.

YOU'RE NOT ALONE

The Enemy (single, Warner)

As quintessentially British as fish 'n' chips and rainy Sunday afternoons, this year's big hitters unleash the third release from their debut album. A stirring tribute to the thousands of workers who lost their jobs when the Peugeot plant in the band's hometown of Coventry shut down, this is an anthemic call-to-arms with a salt-of-the-earth punk ethic.

Monsters from the sleep of reason

GOYA'S GHOSTS
(Entertainment In Video, 15, retail & rental)

Not so much a biopic of the famed 18th century Spanish painter as a sweeping historical epic of his life and the tempestuous times in which he lived. From the outset, the cinematography certainly has a painterly ambience to it, although it doesn't appear to be slavishly aping the look of the artist's own works. Stellan Skargard gives a convincing, understated turn as Goya, but the film's main focus is on those around him, particularly ambitious, scheming priest Lorenzo (Javier Bardem at his sly, menacing best). Opening in 1792, the Catholic Church is at the height of its powers and, seeing France descend into bloody revolution right on its doorstep, determines to give its own peasantry something more pressing to think about by reviving the Holy Inquisition. The threat this ghastly institution poses comes home forcefully to Goya when its agents jail his beautiful young model Ines (Natalie Portman) and torture a confession from her after she was seen in a tavern refusing a pork dish and is therefore assumed to be secretly practising prohibited Jewish rites. At the behest of her family, Goya approaches his client Lorenzo and asks him to intervene – which he does, but entirely for his own lascivious ends. Goya's Ghosts is certainly a rousing, gripping slice of history, although it prefers to look away from the depravities it depicts, and is largely carried by the vivid performances of Skarsgard and Bardem. Portman's been on the pointed end of critical jibes for her acting abilities but that's a bit unfair and she does her bit entirely adequately.

ANGLO SAXON ATTITUDES
(Network, 15, retail)

This involving 1992 TV drama in three feature-length episodes about a successful middle-class family imploding under the weight of its dark secrets bears comparison with the threatening sexual undercurrents swirling throughout Grace Metalious' novel Peyton Place. Events hover around an archaeological dig on the eve of the First World War when a phallic pagan statue was found in the grave of a sainted bishop. Gerald Middleton (Richard Johnson) is a wealthy, esteemed historian who was there, has reason to suspect this 'archaeological find of the century' is a fraud and, decades later in the twilight of his career, begins the painful job of excavating his own past. His marriage to the monstrous Danish haus frau Inge (Elizabeth Spriggs) is a loveless sham, in sharp contrast to the passionate affair he had in his youth with Dolly (Tara Fitzgerald), the wife and then widow of his best friend. She was far too much the free spirit to marry him and he has carried a candle ever since; it's this latent passion which begins to illuminate the hidden, tangled lives of his own dysfunctional family. The periods are very well captured, although the abrupt switches in time can take some getting used to, and the acting is particularly strong, especially Fitzgerald who plays Dolly with a compelling lightness of touch.

Star rating: ★★★★★

MONSTER WARRIORS: THE GIANT SPIDER INVASION
(Jetix/Liberation Entertainment, PG, retail)

Fun superheroics for children and young teenagers, the Monster Warriors are four high school kids with fairly credible special powers which allow them to move swiftly, think on their feet, retain academic knowledge and cobble together unlikely weapons from household items – all skills they'll come to need as they fight off a succession of giant creatures threatening homogenous Capital City. Mad film-maker Klaus Von Steinhauer has escaped a home for the elderly with a ray gun which brings to life his hokey old B-movie monsters and in these first seven episodes he unleashes giant spiders, a worm, a bee, a dragon, an alligator, an ice monster and a kraken. Luckily, Luke, Antonio, Tabby and Vanka are on hand to research the threat via Von Steinhauer's crummy old movies and then combat it by ingeniously employing whatever's at hand. This Canadian TV show feels pitched at the Scooby-Doo audience and, while it's simple plots and B-dialogue might leave some adult viewers wanting more, it's got humour to spare and my six-year-old daughter ate it up like Godzilla with a plateful of tramcars in Bolognese sauce, insisting it was five-star excitement all the way.

Star rating: ★★★

MADAME SOUSATZKA
(Network 15, retail)

There's more than a whiff of Harold And Maude's cross-generational friendship in this likeable 1988 British drama as Shirley MacLaine's eccentric music teacher of the title seeks to bring out the best in 15-year-old prodigy Manek (Navin Chowdhry) while simultaneously nurturing him to be the right kind of man as he crosses the threshold into adulthood. Beneath her gruff but undeniably passionate facade of rouged old tyrant she buries a lifetime of dreams dashed by her own virtuoso pianist mother and can't resist living vicariously through her student, even as he finds the temptations of a successful career prematurely dangled before him by an ambitious agent. MacLaine is excellent as Sousatzka and is surrounded by talented support such as Peggy Ashcroft, Geoffrey Blaydon and Shabana Azmi as Manek's financially harried mother, crafting a film in which a sad nostalgia bouys moments of wry comedy and some delightful musical interludes. It's a pity director John Schlesinger thought to include the pretty but abysmally limited Twiggy in his cast, but there you go.

Star rating: ★★★

MAN IN THE MIRROR: THE MICHAEL JACKSON STORY
(Scanbox Entertainment, PG, retail)

What to say about this trashy, preposterous TV biopic about tainted idol Jackson other than, given its subject matter, it probably could not have been otherwise. Loosely charting his career in tabloid-sized bites, it's an inadvertent hoot from its start with the Jackson Five to its finish in the ludicrous environs of his Neverland retreat amid allegations of child abuse, plastic surgery and all-round loopiness. The acting by not-quite-lookalikes is uniformly terrible (Flex Alexander plays Jackson like some sort of cross between a mentally challenged five-year-old and a space alien) and it's hamstrung further by the fact it wasn't allowed to include a note of his music. Still, browsers of celebrity pap such as Heat will probably lap it up.

STAND UP
The Dead 60s (single, Deltasonic)

Fans of this Liverpool quartet hail them to be The Clash for the 21st century but even if Matt McManamon's vocals have a little of the Joe Strummer about them it is more Deacon Blue pop than cutting edge punk.

MERRYMAKING AT MY PLACE
Calvin Harris (single, Columbia)

If you thought the inexplicably popular Acceptable In The Eighties and the even less deserving of merit Girls were worth getting excited about, then you will probably like this funky effort. But most will find any more than one listen to be a bit of an overdose.

GLORIOUS
Natalie Imbruglia (single, Brightside)

The antipodean beauty marks a return to the music scene with a robust and feelgood track with about as much lyrical depth as a Melbourne puddle, but catchy and likeable for all that.

Your stars with
Patrick Arundell
to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
You can be a kindly soul Aries and this week you can find yourself looking out for a pal or family member who is struggling with life. However, be mindful of your own welfare. Rushing from pillar to post in order to help all and sundry will only serve to drain your batteries. You may feel you're coping valiantly, but don't overdo it. Call to hear why words need special care this week.

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
Your words are going to take on even greater importance this week. Now you can be a charmer Libra and your silky diplomacy can often unlock the door of opportunity but this is not a time to be glib. Be factual and be honest and especially where you and others are not walking in the same footprint. Integrity will help guide your way forwards. Call me if legal issues need resolution.

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
A very passionate set of influences suggests you should be careful what you wish for. You may just get what you want, but there could be a price to pay. Financial affairs require you to play with a straight bat. Neither try to persuade anyone too assertively, nor be persuaded by anyone else's arguments. And yet, a sizzling attraction is possible. Call to hear who can switch you on Taurus.

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
Money, so the saying goes is the root of all evil. There can be more than a grain of truth in that this week Scorpio, so proceed with caution around loans, store cards and the like. Temptation can be powerful and we live in a consumer age. Yet try to content yourself with simpler pleasures. In love, that very deep and intense side of you is stirred. Call me to hear how you can mesmerise someone.

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
You are at your best when your thought processes have lots of air flowing round them. Neptune is a crucial planet this week, softening your outlook or potentially bogging it down a bit. And Pluto is key too. However, this influence is more strident. Changes may not be without scrapes and tensions. At times things can feel woolly or fiery! Call me now Gemini for your week in full.

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
You can be one of the most influential of all the zodiac signs this week, but it's a question of using your influence in the right way. There can be tensions at home and professionally and you'll need to show a deft touch to negotiate all this. Try to set an example. However, do not let your enthusiasm run away from you too far. Call me if you are keen to step up your exercise routines.

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
Something has been irking you Cancer, the difference this week is that you can be determined to drive it out into the open. This could relate to a tricky colleague at work. Yet if your side of this relates to finances or a contract, do make sure you get your facts straight before going into action to resolve things. Neverfudge solutions. Call to hear why an Aquarian can have a bewitching vibe.

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
When we know what a problem is we can react to it positively. But something can burst into the open now, which you simply hadn't expected. However, the fates are providing a service to you, making you more aware and alive to possibilities. Once you learn about these, you may chide yourself you didn't see them before, but that's life. Call me now for a deeper insight.

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
Someone continues to enthrall you but whether this is a good situation for you or not is hard to say. The attraction can burn brightly, or could be utterly mystifying but it can see you hooked. If you run, or work out at the gym it's going to be important to warm up thoroughly so as to avoid straining yourself. Friends? You quarrel or get on famously. Call to hear why a Gemini can feature brightly.

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
You may be clear about your hopes, and the nub is how you're going to get to there. Your assumptions and expectations can be subject to change, so it may be no bad idea to expect things to be fluid. Your idealistic ways may not be appreciated by all but those that matter will have no problem. Win or lose you can only be yourself. Call me for how to maximise your creativity.

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
Conflict can crop up at the heart of your world, or professionally. And your expectations can influence this. But this week can see young against old, inexperienced against wise. If you have hopes to move, be utterly realistic as far as affordability. Any kind of bold ambition needs to be backed up with solid, feet on the ground sensibility. Call me now Virgo for the inside track.

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
Tact is just as an important tool as it ever has been. If you can blend this with determination, you'll have a winning formula. If you find yourself getting rattled, a promising situation can be spoiled. Then again, you can find that you get caught in the middle — especially at home, and a fair share of walking around on eggshells can ensue. Call me now to hear how progress could come at a cost.

The place to go for bathroom – or house – refurbishments

WITH a reputation that is second to none when it comes to all of your heating and plumbing requirements, is it any wonder that C F Oakes is known for being in a league of its own, with a guarantee of good value for money and a first class service?

As business has flourished, the company has branched out and now undertakes complete home renovation. From complete renovation including tiling, carpeting, flooring and associated woodwork, lighting etc to simply having materials supplied, these professionals can help.

Just give them a call and they will be happy to discuss your requirements. Alternatively, you can visit the showroom at Wych Elm in Harlow (opposite the hospital), where you'll find a superb range of modern bathroom suites, shower enclosures and accessories.

If you've been thinking of updating your bathroom, this is the company to call. C F Oakes has built up an enviable reputation for superb personal service and reliability – something a lot of companies lack these days! Much of the company's business comes from personal recommendation.

Offering a full bathroom renovation service as well as the replacement of central heating systems, if you think your bathroom is too small to be able to do much with or perhaps a luxury bathroom you've always dreamed of would be out of your price range, then perhaps you should think again!

You may be able to save a great deal of money by cutting the cost of your heating bills. The company specialises in renovating central heating systems in older properties which can often cost much more to run than they should do.

C F Oakes is owned and run by Steve Oakes, son of the company's founder, Charlie Oakes. Steve does all of the fitting work himself and his sons Thomas and Sam complete the family picture by working alongside him. Manager Kim Darwin is always on hand to offer helpful advice and will discuss your requirements with the benefits of his experience if required.

As a registered Corgi gas installer, the company has also completed the Government's regulations course to offer a safer installation service for total peace of mind.

For further details visit C F Oakes at Wych Elm, Harlow, or call 01279 421182 or 07836 736202.

Karate trio in medal success

MEMBERS of Shotokan Karate Centre returned from the 2007 AMA Eastern Region Championships with gold and silver medals.

Three members of the Harlow Swimming Pool based club competed in the tournament at Nottingham.

Callum Talbot (11) opened the club's account by finishing 5th, just outside the medals, in the boys under-12 years Kata (pre-arranged forms) event.

The club's first medal of the day went to current U-16 national champion Declan Hyde, who won gold in the boys 12-15yrs Kata event.

Eamonn Hyde made it a family double when he won silver in the men's Dan grade (Black Belts) individual Kata event. Eamonn (21) is an assistant instructor at the Shotokan Karate Centre.

Senior Instructor Martin Brown said: "It's very rewarding to see our younger students following in the footsteps of our former champions. Although the object of karate is not winning medals, our success at this level is an indicator of the standard at the club."

Club instructor Eleanor Brown, who was injured and missed the AMA Eastern Region Championships, is the club's most successful competitor.

She is currently ranked 3rd in the Karate Sport England ranking tables for both Kata and Kumite (fighting).

Jones breaks club record

DAWN Jones set a new Harlow Athletic Club masters record (over-35) in the triple jump at a Southern Women's League division three south meeting.

Jones leapt 11.03m in winning the A event at the four-club event in Thurrock on Sunday.

She also came first in the A string high jump (1.50m), while gaining a third in the A javelin (14.99m).

April Eastwood came third in the A 800m in 2mins 39.5 secs and leapt 4.53m in the B long jump, while club-mate 16-year-old Polly Woods got two first spots in the A 200m (29.2s) and long jump (4.60m).

In the U-15 girls, Isobel Moss claimed three second spots in the B long jump (3.24m), B javelin (7.15m) and A 800m (3:16.08).

Two second spots were earned by Georgia Eastwood. These came in the A shot (5.22m) and B discus (10.48m), while Gemma Ingram gained three runner-up positions. They were in the B shot (4.74m), A discus (16.19m) and the A event 100m (16.0s).

Ruth Bastow was second in both the A long jump (3.76m) and A javelin (9.96m).

Harlow finished third with 54 points, behind Lewes (87) and Cambridge (106). Chiltern were last with 11.

● MARLENE Avontuur (U-11) was second in the 600m at an open meeting at Watford with a time of 2:00.44 and third in the 80m sprint in 12.65s, taking a second off her personal best.

She leapt 3.24m in the long jump at Sunday's event.

World champ bronze for GB cox Acer

FORMER Mark Hall School student Acer Nethercott helped Great Britain register an exceptional series of results at the World Championships in Munich, Germany, over the weekend.

Cox Nethercott was part of the men's eight crew which took bronze at the championships in a thrilling race.

After getting off to a terrible start the boat was trailing in last place approaching the 1,000m mark. But the crew of Tom James, Tom

ROWING

Stallard, Tom Lucy, Tom Solesbury, Josh West, Richard Egington, Robin Bourne-Taylor and Alastair Heathcote managed to find a second wind.

Urged on by Nethercott, they initiated a concerted push to work their way up the field, overtaking the Americans to edge into third place.

Unfortunately they left it a little too late to overhaul the home German crew, in second spot, and were forced to settle for bronze with a time of 5:37.95, with the Canadians way out in front for gold.

The GB crew qualified for next year's Beijing Olympics after finishing second behind the Canadians in the semi-final the day before. Generating pace and fluidity they proceeded to apply pressure in the second half of the race to haul them past the hosts, and just two seconds behind Canada.

Every British boat competing in an Olympic class won medals on the final day of the championships, with two golds and three bronzes, as the team finished top of the medals table for the first time ever.

The GB team now enjoy a well-earned three-week break from training and competition before the preparations for Beijing begin in earnest.

Fantastic relay triumph finale as five starlets shine for Essex

AN outstanding performance from Harlow's Mark Hunt helped secure victory for the Essex Under-17 4x400m relay team at an Eastern Inter Counties match.

Having already secured gold in his individual A string 400m event, Mark looked as though he would struggle to repeat that feat as he faced a 35m deficit on the leading Norfolk relay team when running the final leg.

However, Mark stormed around the track to complete his leg in a staggering 49.05 seconds.

Six counties took part in the competition at Bury St Edmunds in Suffolk on Sunday.

Five local athletes were part of the Essex team which won the senior women's, U-17 and senior men's titles.

Essex team manager John Stow said: "I did not think Mark had a chance of catching the Norfolk athlete. It was an unbelievable run."

Calvin Barnes (18) was selected for the Essex senior men's squad for the first time and more than justified his selection with a fantastic long jump of 6.99m.

This gave him second place, which places Calvin 13th on the UK U-20 rankings.

Sawbridgeworth's Sam Watts continued his unbeaten run in the U-17 men's category with two fine first places, in the B string 100m (11.4s) and the 200m (23.1s, a new personal best).

RELAY STAR: Mark Hunt scooped two golds at an Eastern Inter Counties match (s)

Fourteen-year-old Tom Richards, from Harlow, also earned his first county call up and recorded an excellent throw of 39.28m for first in the B string javelin.

Mark Hall School student Tom Larkin was also rewarded with a second Essex vest and was second in the B string 400m in 55.1s.

He then joined Mark Hunt and Sam Watts and ran the first leg in the victorious 4x400m U-17 relay race, clocking 54.5s.

But Mark was the cream of the crop. The youngster has now left Passmores School in Harlow and this week began studying for his A-Levels at The Bishop's Stortford High School sixth form.

He could also feature on Channel 4, which is showing coverage of the UK School Games held at the end of August.

Mark represented the Eastern Region at the Games and was part of the 4x400m relay team.

Channel 4 will be showing highlights of the event, which took place in Coventry, on successive weekends on September 16 and 23.

The team, which included 400m champion Nathan Wake, from the Ware-based Herts Phoenix Athletic Club, clinched second in the race.

Mark ran an excellent race, pushing his side from fourth into first until a strong finish from 800m triple champion Adrian Moore — who had been overtaken by the Harlow youngster in the first 100m after changeover — pipped the team right at the death.

James Cotton's on quick for golf win

FIFTEEN-year-old James Richardson won the Sir Henry Cotton Junior Open tournament at Harlow's Canons Brook Golf Club.

He shot rounds of 87 [2 under par] and 79 [10 under par].

A par round for the Elizabeth Way course is 73 and James' handicap is 16, which meant he finished 12 under his handicap.

James, from Deer Park in Harlow, said: "I was in the third last group and I was confident I had shot quite a good round. We had a meal and it was then announced I had won it. "I felt excited and it was my first major win. Everybody looks forward to this tournament."

James, a student at Stewards School in Parnall Road, Harlow, shot an excellent second round, which included an eagle on the 492-yard sixth hole. He was pleased with his approach play and work on the greens.

He added: "My iron play and putting were consistent. It gave me a chance of birdies."

All change in the Star youth league

YOUNGSTERS from Harlow and beyond will be dusting off their football boots for the start of the new Harlow Star Youth Community League season on Sunday.

And with three new clubs and eight new teams, the campaign promises to be bigger and better.

The League has recruited three sides from Bishop's Stortford Community Football Club.

Abbey Youth, based in Waltham Abbey, have also joined, while FC Paringdon is another new team.

Newhall Rangers, based at the Maypole Sports Ground, have also returned to the fold.

On a disappointing note, Old Harlow have folded while there will not be an U-13 division as a lack of teams in this age group meant it had to be axed.

Club development chief Bob Earll told Star Sport: "It is regrettable that we are unable to run competitions at under-13 and above age groups, but unfortunately despite our best efforts there were insufficient teams to sustain competitive leagues.

"It's sad that inevitably teams have had to fold and numerous boys have been lost to football.

"On the positive side we have reasonably healthy competition at our other age groups especially at under 10 level where we are able to have two divisions this season.

"We are looking to build upon

Heywood's Bowl joy

TWENTY-two members of Stort Valley Angling Society travelled the short distance to the Rib Valley fishery near Ware.

They battled, in cool, wet conditions, on the fishery's Millennium Lake, for the W. Morris Rose Bowl, weighing in a total of 142lbs 4ozs.

Andy Heywood was successful this time, using ledger tactics, he caught 19lbs 5ozs of mostly bream, just ahead of club chairman, Mick Westby, who netted 17lbs 9ozs of smaller fish, caught mainly on the pole.

Third place was taken by Bill Beehan with just under 14lbs of skimmer bream.

The Heywood family completed a double on the day, with Andy's son, 10-year-old Ben, successful in the junior match.

Eight at Welwyn 10

JOHN Tennant was fastest Harlow finisher at the Welwyn Garden City 10-mile race.

A total of eight members of Harlow Running Club competed in the race, held on a warm day around the slightly undulating streets and cycle paths of the town.

Tennant finished in 1 hour, 6 minutes and 19 seconds.

He was followed by Rick Ricketts (1:07.59) and Jamie Luck (1:14.02).

Gina Bailey (1:41.43) was the only Harlow RC woman to compete.

Other Harlow RC times: Ron Newton (1:23.32); Nick Luck (1:31.00); Ron Luck (1:32.44); Dave Howes (1:39.13).

Back-to-back wins for Harlow

Joyce spilled a low shot, but then pounced on the loose ball as Carshalton players circled around him.

The USA-born custodian made another mistake just past the half-hour mark, but again the hosts were unable to profit.

Luke Fontana's shot was fumbled by Joyce, but the combination of Clark Akers and Beckett Hollenbach managed to clear the danger.

Errors from goalkeepers seemed to be breeding, but at least Harlow were able to take advantage of the Carshalton stopper's clanger.

Eight minutes before the break Kenny Davis's cross from the right appeared to be sailing harmlessly wide. Howe then intervened and tried to pluck the ball from the air — but lost concentration and instead palmed it into the net.

The hosts pushed on in search of an equaliser after the break and Jack MacLeod's long-range effort drifted narrowly wide of a post just before the hour mark.

MacLeod dragged another effort wide on 73 minutes, before Joyce caught a half-volley from substitute Christopher Day moments later.

Defender Ryan Watts ventured forward and saw his shot on the turn fly just past the post on 87 minutes.

This was the last real chance for Carshalton as Williams doubled Hawks' lead with a strange goal three minutes into stoppage time.

Keeper Howe came off his line to try and clear a horrendous backpass from captain David Graves, but Williams charged down the clearance.

The striker tried one shot, which was saved by Howe, before Harlow sub Tobi Ositola managed to hit the post with the rebound. This bounced back out to Williams who tucked home the loose ball. Kirby said: "The work-rate was good and we kept our shape well. It was a fast game and the lads thought they could have done better, but were professional."

HARLOW TN: Joyce, Davis, Akers (McGowen 67), Hollenbach, Miles, Chapman, Lalite, Hill (Kirby 85), Bunn (Ositola 90), Fowler, Williams. Subs not used: S. Glidden, Dumoulin (gk).

Unbeaten Epping in steady start

EPPING have picked up two points from their opening two LFC Insurance Essex Olympian Football League senior premier division matches.

Chances were few and far between when they drew 0-0 at Canning Town last Thursday, but more plentiful when Epping drew 1-1 at home to Bishop's Stortford Swifts on Saturday.

The visitors went ahead on 56 minutes when a Steve Leys shot deflected over ex-Swifts keeper Alan Moore and into the net.

Shortly after, a Jim Ellice corner was flicked on by Lee Ford and Leon Rolle finished.

Epping boss Neil Whitbread said: "We should have four points now. I feel we should have won on Saturday."

In senior division one, newly-promoted Potter Street romped to a 5-1 victory at Stambridge United.

Potter Street, now managed by Rob Campbell, went ahead on 15 minutes when Carl Smith's cross was deflected in by a home defender.

Mickey Kennedy pounced on a rebound to make it 2-0 on the half-hour mark.

Just before the break, Street's Lewis Donoghue conceded a penalty which was converted by Mark Goodwin.

However, Kennedy (2) completed a hat-trick and Carl Smith also scored after the break to give Potter Street a comfortable victory.

Roydon started their senior division one campaign with an excellent 4-2 defeat of Leigh Ramblers.

Phil Panting (2), Jose Fernandez and Steve Banks got the goals.

'Gate no barrier to Hawks first victory

Harlow Tn 3, Ramsgate 0
(Ryman League, premier division)

AN important lift was given to the Hawks as they clocked up their first win of the new campaign.

Harlow Town's victory margin over Ramsgate may have flattered them slightly, but they deserved to win after picking up only two points from the first four matches.

There were occasional glimpses of fluency, but both defences dominated in the first half on Saturday.

Hawks coach Bill Songhurst told Star Sport after the match: "We were half a yard slower in other games, but the lads lifted their game today."

"Everybody was thinking the players are not trying and do not care. There is not a player in that dressing room who does not care or try as hard as he can."

A Clark Akers cross from the left was nodded wide by Lee Miles on 10 minutes and minutes later Andy Hadden blasted wide at the other end.

Hawks keeper Ian Joyce kept out a Shaun Welford shot on 23 minutes.

Harlow went ahead four minutes before the break. A ball fell loose on the right-hand edge of the box and Danny Hill netted his first goal for the club when his shot hit the glove of diving keeper Paul Wilkerson and flew into the far corner.

Harlow had a let off when Lee Minshull fired over from five yards on 52 minutes.

Hill was booked for kicking a ball at a Ramsgate player, which Minshull reacted to, and the Kent man was lucky to stay on the pitch after lunging at the former Spurs player.

Steffan Ball nodded over the home bar on the hour and Harlow soaked up the pressure before doubling their advantage on 72 minutes. A James Bunn ball released Dean Williams and his cross back into the box found the marauding Bunn, but he was fouled by Ramsgate substitute Ben Laslett. Bunn converted the penalty.

Jordan Fowler was booked for preventing a visitors' free-kick from being taken quickly before the hosts went 3-0 up. Kenny Davis's ball down the right went off Dan Tanner's head and Williams charged on to it before coolly beating Wilkerson.

Just before the end, a Leon Lalite shot hit the Ramsgate woodwork, but by then the result was not an issue.

HARLOW TN: Joyce 7, Davis 7, Akers 6 (McGowen 59), Hollenbach 8, Miles 7, Chapman 7, Lalite 7, Hill 8, (S Glidden 67), Bunn 7, Fowler 6, Williams 7 (Ositola 85). Subs not used: Green, Dumoulin (gk).

'Rams face tough title bid'

RAMS player-coach Lee Harron believes Harlow are in for a tough ride in London division three north east this term.

The Rams, who lost a promotion play-off match to Welwyn last season, says several clubs will be stronger than previously.

Rochford Hundred, boosted by several new players, plus Norwich, Romford and Brentwood will battle it out with Harlow for the title.

Scrum-half Harrow said: "A lot of sides have gone away and heavily recruited and it's going to be a much tougher league this year."

"We need to perform at least as well as we did last year to finish anywhere near where we did."

Harlow warmed up for this Saturday's league opener at Ipswich with a 36-12 friendly win at home to Harpenden.

Fly-half Nick Ford, who has just returned from honeymoon, will lead out the Harlow side for the first time. He will be without Scott Stoba who has moved to Tabard, while another back row forward, Mark Pickett, will be unavailable as he is going to England's opening Rugby World Cup match against USA.

There are doubts over number eight Kain Claridge and centre Billy Stanley (ankle injuries), while centre Ben Jarvis is away on holiday.

Wing Simon Vanbeck returned from knee and hamstring complaints to score a try in the second team's 36-10 win over Old Albanian on Saturday.

Rams will be further boosted by the presence of centre Wayne Morgan and talented Aussie full-back Josh Bohl.

The game against London division three north west side Harpenden was split into three sessions and the score was 7-7 after the first one, during which both sides scored a try and conversion.

Gary Brown scored two tries for Harlow, whose superior fitness told as Sean Banks, Will Grimley, Harron and Morgan all grabbed further tries to Harpenden's one. Bohl and James McFerran (2) kicked the conversions.

Injury blow as Wilson's men are defeated

A TOP-half finish will be achieved by Sawbridgeworth if they beat Hertford at home in their final league game this Saturday.

Danny Wilson's side are currently in fifth spot in division two east after losing at Harpenden in their penultimate match five days ago.

Harpenden, in sixth spot, have exactly the same number of points (204) as Sawbridgeworth, who have won one more match.

Sawbridgeworth batted first last Saturday and started well with Wilson and Ashman putting on 39 for the first wicket before they were dismissed for 26 and 13 respectively.

Rory Coutts played well and had made 35 when he was bowled playing onto his stumps off Iroshan de Silva from the last ball before lunch. This left Sawbo on 92-3.

The visitors collapsed after the interval.

Sawbridgeworth 161, Harpenden 163-6

Sawbridgeworth lost by four wickets

(Sommers UK Home Counties Premier League, div two east)

Left-arm seamer Ben Mahoney had Phil Marshall caught behind for 9. He then trapped Andrew Richardson lbw for 2 and had Simon Greenall caught behind for 4 to leave the visitors on 101-6.

However, Michael Burrell and Kieran Morgan put on 47 for the seventh wicket. Morgan made 19 and Burrell (33) was the last to go as the visitors were dismissed for 161.

De Silva (4-43) was the most successful Harpenden bowler.

In reply, the hosts slipped to 41-3.

Ryan Cunningham trapped Will Jones lbw for 8.

Sawbo's hopes suffered a blow a ball later when Coutts had to go off with a hamstring injury.

On the resumption, de Silva was bowled by Morgan for 11, while Mike Howard struck three fours before Cunningham trapped him lbw.

However, the match swung Harpenden's way as Adam Winchester put on 51 and 38 respectively for the fourth and fifth wickets with Will Spencer (24) and Tom Stewart (dropped when the score was on 96).

After Winchester went for 42, Stewart chipped in with 41 as Harpenden achieved victory with four wickets to spare.

Cunningham (4-42) was Sawbridgeworth's most successful bowler.

Wilson said: "We did not bat as well as we could on a good wicket. Two hundred would have been a minimum and with Rory Coutts going off with a hamstring injury, fielding with 10 [players] was not easy."

Cruel hand, Luke

Vice-captain takes charge but rues lack of bowlers

A LACK of bowling depth as they went down to a heavy defeat at Fives & Heronians.

Harlow, led for the first time by 17-year-old vice-skipper Luke Heskett due to captain James Butler's holiday, batted well and posted a score of 240-6, but with only three regular bowlers were unable to defend the target.

Mark Green and Zap Nazir were unavailable, which left Harlow relying on Heskett and the experienced Paul Mayhew plus spinner Nick Butler.

Heskett got rid of Glenn Edwards when he had him caught for 17 when the score was 42.

However, Gordon Whorlow joined Jackson and the pair put on 100 for the second wicket before Mayhew had Jackson caught by Nilesh Odedra for 67.

Danny Stevens made a quick 36 before he was caught by Simon Baulcomb off Heskett, but Whorlow stayed to make 75 not out and see Fives home with six overs to spare. Heskett (2-49) was Harlow's best bowler.

Earlier, Nilesh Modhwadia shared an opening stand of 71 in only 14 overs with Nick Butler before the former was run out with the score on 18.

Heskett said: "The batting was really encouraging. We batted well and just did not have enough bowling."

Harlow's second team are in danger of being relegated from division one of the 2nd XI league after they drew with Fives & Heronians in their penultimate match.

Harlow made 142 (John Allen 58) before Nicky Baxter took 6-46, as Fives finished on the same score.

In the 3rd XI championship division one, Harlow (110) lost by eight wickets to Ardleigh Green (112-2).

QUALITY STREET: Potter Street & Church Langley celebrate promotion from division four in the Ten-17FM Herts & Essex Cricket League (s)

Potters seal second promotion

POTTER Street clinched their second consecutive promotion when they beat Theydon Bois at home on Saturday.

The visitors won the toss and after being put in to bat, Street struggled against Theydon bowlers Theron and Steyn.

Chris Wise and Potter Street's three top batsmen all failed against the combination of Theron's pace and Steyn's spin.

However, opener Shuria Bastola made a useful 30, while Amar Ali gave the home innings substance as he struck 59 from 49 balls.

Two other batsmen reached double figures before the hosts were bowled out for 176.

Theron, a former Potter Street player, took 3-33.

Potter Street & Church Langley 176, Theydon Bois 148

Potter Street won by 28 runs (Ten-17FM Herts & Essex League, division four)

In reply, tight bowling from Jeremy Rose (10-1-27-1) and Kawahaja (10-4-19-2) played a strong part in restricting Theydon.

Dangerman Theron was bowled by Kawahaja for 7. Stoner played himself in before he was deceived by a slower ball from Wahid and skied a catch to Rose.

Thompson made a quick 38 for the visitors, whose victory quest was finally undone by Surath Bastola. He took 4-28.

Potter Street will play in division three next season. The club also hope to get a side admitted into the league's new division seven for 2008.

Harlow Town (153-3) completed an unbeaten season in division four when they defeated Cloghams (152) by seven wickets.

The Cloghams' innings was marked by two outstanding catches from Nick Teale, including one to get rid of the dangerous Rob Crouchman.

Teale also took three wickets, while skipper Vic Goddard claimed three scalps.

Town reached the target with Ramay Upadhyay (43 not out), Pat Yates (28) and Ashley Alderson (25 not out) playing the key innings.

Harlow Town seconds (264-8, Paul Calver 104 in 71 balls) just missed out on promotion from division six after thrashing Thorley seconds (85) by 179 runs.

Street suffer 10-goal blitz

PREMIER Division new boys Quendon Athletic thrashed Potter Street reserves 10-1 at home in the opening weekend of the Bishop's Stortford, Stansted & District Football League.

Quendon netted through Dale Badcock (3), Tyler Gilkes, Sam Walker and Joe Murphy (2 each). Paul Finnan was also on target.

Alemite Athletic won 7-0 at home to Pelly House. Scorers were Lewis Eaglestone (2), Scott Lucking (2), Richard Stapleton, Ross Tobolewski and Gavin Cockman.

Other results:- Wally Day Cup — North Weald 4 (Ashley Brown, J. Sarco, Adam Dangerfield, Matt Clark), Debden res 1.

Sibley shoots down rivals' promotion bid

PROMOTION challengers Buckhurst Hill were blasted off the park by a scintillating display of batting by Epping hot-shot Dan Sibley.

Sibley recorded his third ton of the season, but surpassed the other two in smashing 137 as Epping beat their local rivals.

In his impressive 90-minute innings Sibley hit eight sixes, with several smashing into or onto the Hill pavilion.

Sibley was out with just 13 needed to win. Skipper Geoff Maynard (35 not out) and Dave Bickley steered Epping home for a three-wicket win with eight overs left.

Earlier, openers Khan (29) and Mulla (56) got Hill off to a flyer and they had the 100 up within 20 overs.

But tight bowling from Bickley (2-29) and Marc Webb (2-44) steered the game back towards Epping.

Allen (42) and Tim Scott (46) batted well, but neither could post the big score that was needed on a plumb batting track.

Back-to-back wins for rejuvenated Hawks

TWO wins in four days saw the Hawks put behind them their early-season form to surge up the table. Tuesday night's 2-0 victory at Carshalton Athletic might have had an element of fortune about it, but it has surely given Ryan Kirby's men the springboard they needed to kick-start their season. Home keeper Aaron Howe's calamitous error in the first half set Harlow on the path to a crucial three points, before Dean Williams added a second right at the death.

Player-boss Ryan Kirby named himself as a substitute after missing the last few games with a knee injury. He directed proceedings from the dugout, before making his first appearance since the opening day draw with Leyton as a late substitute.

The visitors started the game with a high tempo and Jordan Fowler had a shot blocked by Craig Dundas just seconds into the match.

At the other end, Harlow stopper Ian Joyce made a good stop to deny Philip Ruggles on 13 minutes, but he made hard work of a second attempt five minutes later.

RYAN Kirby is not aiming to rush back for a starting place in the Hawks defence at Tonbridge Angels.

The Harlow Town player-boss will probably be on the bench for this Saturday's Ryman League premier division clash as he is delighted with the two clean sheets his side kept in their last two games against Ramsgate and Carshalton.

Kirby missed four games with a knee injury. He made a cameo appearance as a sub at Carshalton and was due to continue his recuperation in a reserve game against AFC Hornchurch last night (Wednesday).

Keeper James Hasell is another absentee. He is out for four more weeks after undergoing an operation on Tuesday to get rid of floating bone in his hand. He broke his thumb socket in the friendly against Bishop's Stortford last month.

Kirby is looking forward to the clash at Tonbridge.

He said: "It should be a good game. We played them last year [a 3-1 defeat in the FA Trophy]. They are a decent team."

Kirby was delighted that his side ended their poor run with two wins in four days this week. "We needed that first win and with our second there has been a lift to our confidence."

The Hawks will host Essex Senior League side Concord Rangers in the FA Cup first qualifying round in nine days, but Kirby is taking nothing for granted after Harlow's 1-0 home defeat to Saffron Walden Town at an earlier stage of the same competition last year.

He said: "I do not expect promotion this year, but would like a decent Cup run. You cannot complain about the draw, but what happened last year [versus Saffron Walden] will be drummed into the team."

Harlow host Ware in the second round of the Isthmian League Cup on October 22.
